

ASM Aerosol-Service AG

We are looking for dynamic, self-reliant people for whom it goes without saying that they should work at their own initiative and that their actions and thoughts should be orientated towards the customer, the services being provided and an awareness of quality.

You can expect a varied and stimulating range of challenging activities with us at ASM with possibilities for further professional and personal development.

In partnership with you we would like to achieve something exceptional. We are looking forward to receiving your application.

Online application

Please note that our vacancies are only published in German.

